Children Are Warmed by Scarves ...and Prayer

When extra prayer shawls were made available for distribution to charitable organizations following the 2008 synod assembly, Barbara, a voting member from Messiah, Wilkes-Barre, accepted the invitation.

“I took about 44 scarves for my sister Virginia’s Head Start program in Scranton,” she wrote in January. The children received the scarves at Christmas and “were thrilled with them. They each picked the one they liked.”

These shawls, handmade and prayed over by members of congregations across the synod, are tangible reminders that the prayers of the makers are with those who wear the shawls.

Barbara continues, “I want you to know how much we appreciate the time and effort of everyone who made, collected, and distributed the scarves. You put a smile on a lot of faces this Christmas.”

YOU put those smiles in place. Your gifts to mission support help fund synod communications that connect congregations and people, such as E-News, Partners in the Spirit, Synod News, and the website.

More than 1600 prayer shawls went to the synod assembly and, from there, across the synod and beyond. Thanks to you and your gifts, children in a Scranton Head Start program are warmed by scarves – and prayer.
